- YOU ARE EXPLORING AT YOUR OWN RISK-

There are a countless number of risks to be considered before entering the wilderness. These risks include, but are not limited to: dehydration, heat stroke, frostbite, hypothermia, skin rashes, bee stings, snake bites, diseases carried by ticks and mosquitos, sprained/broken bones, and falls that can result in serious injury or death. For safety purposes, it is of utmost importance that you listen to your guide throughout your adventure. Catskill Mountain Wild is not responsible for any personal injury, illness or death.

Personal Property Catskill Mountain Wild is not responsible for lost, damaged or stolen personal property. This includes but is not limited to anything on your person, in your pack or left in a vehicle.

Exploring With Dogs Some adventures are dog friendly, but please discuss this with your guide before the date of exploration. Keeping your dog on leash is the safest way to explore. Catskill Mountain Wild is not responsible for the well-being of your pet.

By signing this document, you agree that all the information you provided is accurate. You are exploring at your own risk and Catskill Mountain Wild is in no way responsible for your personal injuries, personal property or the well-being of your pets.

In the rare case of incident, accident or injury, you are aware that you contract away the right to sue Catskill Mountain Wild, or the guide personally, for any reason, including its own negligence.
